

*Babaly was a puppy who was too excited to sleep.
He looked out of the window, hoping the little stars would go home quickly so that the sun would rise earlier. He really could not wait.*

